fortifications bill reported today allows in a lump sum appropriation slightly more than $1,000,000 to begin construction at Fort Henry.

The fortifications appropriation bill reported today by the House Committee on Appropriations is nearly $17,000, 000 in excess of that of last year;

Congressman Swagar Sherley, chair man of the subcommittee framing the bill, made the report of the fortifications budget. The accompanying statement was a comprehensive review of what is being done toward the fortifying of the continental and insular possessions of the United States, although, of course, the committee does not reveal the actual nature of the fortifications at strategic Significant Statement.

One of the most significant statements in the report of the Sherley subcommittee is that the War Department has submitted estimates, which were allowed. "for the building of emplacements and mounting seven twelve-inch guns upon barbette carriages, with high angle fire, se as to give such guns a range of 30,000

This is about 8,000 yards beyond the effective range of any gun mounted aboard a battleship. Even the Queen Elizabeth type ships have no such range as is suggested for these land fortificareport says that these guns of record breaking range are to be placed at New York, Boston and either Portland or San Francisco

The Sherley report refers to the findings of the Treat Board on the subject of field artillery. In view of the les sons of the European war, the report says, there must be employed by the bers of guns of existing caliber but others of greater calibers than hereto fore contemplated.

$21,997,050 Carried.

The total carried by the fortifications bill for the next fiscal year is $21,997,000 and authorises contracts in addition mounting to $12,300,000. The amount of direct appropriations is $16,936,823.16 more than the fortifications budget of a year

It is shown by the report that the War Department's Board of Review has worked out a scheme of fortifications for continental United States, its insular sions and the Panama Canal to cost $96,000,000. The appropriations for the Panama Canal are carried in the sundry civil bill.

The bill reported today makes an ambitious start on this $96,000,000 When the fortifications scheme shall have been completed it is stated in the Sherley report that there will be a total of twenty-two sixteen-inch guns in Continental United States.

The War College in its treatise on the subject gives instances of milifary successes resulting from information gleaned fro mthe press in past wars. One case cited is that when it gecame evident to the American inlitary information division in 1897 that war would occur wth Spain, efforts were inade to discover the numbers and garrisons of the Spanish army in Cuba.

It was difficult to do this, but by a compilation of facts gleaned from Spanish papers over many months, remarkably accurate estimates were worked out. The information obtained was of the ulmost value to the Government. It is pointed out that it probably never occurred to the Spanish government that this fragmentary information could be pieced together and made of any value to an enemy.

tinuing the search in the Guerrero district. Funston considers it likely small cavalry detachments are prosecuting the nunt some distance south.

Far removed from their temporary base, General Funston believes they are in need of provisions and forage, but expressed no fear that actual suffering will result.

The complete absence of information indicates to army officers here that the bulk of the punitive expedition is still combing the district about Guerrero; that they have been utterly unable to find a trace of the bandit chief, and that no movement southward is yet under way, save perhaps on the part of a few small cavalry detachments.

PHILLIPS DESCRIBES

D. C. SEWER SYSTE

Gives History of Plant to Chepters History of the history of the punitive expedition is still recombing the district about Guerrero; that they have been utterly unable to find a trace of the bandit chief, and that no movement southward is yet under way, save perhaps on the part of a few small cavalry detachments. A review of the history of the District sewer system was given by A. E. Phillips, superintendent of sewers of the District, at the meeting of the citisens association of Chevy Chase last night.

The District official illustrated his lecture on the system by showing a number of stereoption views of the manner in which the District sewers are built and operated.

Mr. Phillips also dwelt on the plans of the District Commissioners to erect a parkway, three miles in length, on the Anacostia flats. He explained that these plans call for a park of about the same size as Potomac Park.

William T. Murphy, secretary of the association, was instructed to write to the Capital Traction Company and ask to have several of the trolley poles removed from the streets of Chevy Chase. EL PASO, April 6 .- Villa, apparently, has completely disappeared. Carransa and American officials here declare none

Villa since he was wounded at Guerrero ten days ago.
While he was reported to be nearing Parral in Southern Chibushus today, this information came from Mexican civilian sources which officials admitted is unsatisfactory, owing to fear or friendship for Villa.
The American pursuit is believed to have been halted temporarily south of Guerrero.

Guerrero. United States cavalrymen under Coionel Dodd may have dashed for Satevo, where Villa was last reported several days ago. The latest information estimates Villa's own band numbers 250 men. He was previously reported being moved in a wagon attended by a handful of men.

With eighteen arrests in El Paso besides hair a hundred in Juarez, officials believe the plot to start an insurection in the Juarez garrison has been effectively broken up.
